The work of the Fair Trade Federation is primarily funded by its members. We have also received several grants that have enabled us to provide and develop some of these benefits. We would like to thank BeadforLife, Catholic Relief Services, Oxfam and the United Methodist Committee on Relief for their past and continuing support.

We have many programs ready to launch in the near future and welcome your investment in these initiatives.

Mission Statement

The Fair Trade Federation is a trade association that strengthens and promotes North American organizations fully committed to fair trade.

The Federation is part of the global fair trade movement, building equitable and sustainable trading partnerships and creating opportunities to alleviate poverty.

Vision

The Fair Trade Federation envisions a just and sustainable global economic system in which purchasing and production choices are made with concern for the well being of people and the environment, creating a world where all people have viable economic options to meet their own needs. We seek to alleviate poverty by continually and significantly expanding the practice of trade that values the labor and dignity of all people.

The Future is Bright!

FTF has recently come out of a rigorous Strategic Planning Process. We now have a five-year plan that will challenge members and staff to continue to grow the organization in four key areas:

Goal One: Create and Sustain a Collaborative Community

Goal Two: Strengthen Fair Trade Organizations

Goal Three: Promote Member Organizations and Differentiate Fully Committed Businesses

Goal Four: Build and Maintain Strong Organizational Infrastructure

We invite current members to make use of all the services we currently offer, take advantage of new programs as they become live, be proud of your organization by being a positive force for recruitment, and participate in the governance of the organization through committees and on the Board.

If you are not a member and feel that your organization is a good fit with our Principles and Practices (available online www.fairtradefederation.org/join), we look forward to your application for membership.

Member Services

Logo Use

Members are encouraged to use the FTF Logo to distinguish their full commitment to Fair Trade from others' work. The logo can be used on business and marketing documents, websites, store windows, and point of sale materials, among other places. Please note that FTF membership is not a product certification, so the logo cannot be placed on products or product packaging. Members should see the Logo Guidelines (available in the members' section of the website) for further details and best practices.

Promotion on the FTF website

The FTF website, www.fairtradefederation.org, is number one in a Google search for "Fair Trade;" and received over 170,700 unique visitors last year. Members receive a free listing in the "find products" / "find members" section. This core listing is and will always remain free.¹

FTF Membership Certificate

Each year, members receive a membership certificate. FTF encourages members to let their customers know that they are a fully committed Fair Trade Organization by displaying the certificate in their store window, during trade shows, at festivals and fairs, and at events. Retail members can also take advantage of the FTF Member Logo decal for special use in their store windows..

Voting Rights

The Federation is a democratic organization. Each year, members are asked to elect a Board of Directors to make policy on behalf of the membership. As a member, you are also able to run for the board in order to help guide the work of the Federation.

Networks (FTF Newsletter)

Members receive a free subscription to Networks, FTF's quarterly newsletter. Articles include updates on the Fair Trade movement, business advice, and producer profiles. Currently, Networks is distributed electronically to members, friends, partners, buyers, Fair Trade Towns campaigns, and other contacts. Members are also able to advertise in Networks.

Listserves

FTF runs several listservs to facilitate member-to-member communication. Currently a retailer, wholesaler, and general member list are available. Members also have access to FairTalk, a wider listserv operated in conjunction with the Fair Trade Resource Network.

¹ The fundraising committee is currently assessing programs that can generate additional income for the FTF. It is possible that upgrades to listings may be offered in the future at additional charges.

Members' Area of the FTF Website

Members have access to the special members' section of the FTF website. The content on the website is vast. The following is just a sample of what is currently available:

- Example Press Releases
- PowerPoint Presentations on Fair Trade
- One Page Handout on Fair Trade
- Market Information, such as The Trends Report (see below)
- Shipping and Customs Information and Guides
- Planning Documents and Papers
- Trade Show Calendar
- Retail Show Calendar
- Style and Trend Information
- Financing Information and Contacts
- Legislative Updates and Information
- Past Conference Presentations (covering a wide array of subjects)
- Logo Files
- Discount Program Information

Members are also encouraged to provide content and press releases for the website. In addition, we offer a free job board to help you fill your vacant positions.

Trends Report

Every two years, FTF publishes an industry trends report. Members receive a free electronic copy of this study and have the opportunity to advertise in it.

Operational Discounts

FTF has negotiated, and continues to negotiate, discounts for members with business service providers. Currently we offer discounts on shipping via several carriers, green office supplies, telephone service, and certain events.

Member-to-Member Discounts

FTF organizes member-to-member discounts. Currently, retailer members can take advantage of 8+ pages of wholesaler discounts. Saving on this program alone may more than compensate for dues for retail members.

Currently, marketing in this discount program is a free opportunity to wholesale members.

Annual Conference

Each year, FTF holds a conference that combines practical training workshops with opportunities for broader discussion and informal networking. Members receive a considerable discount on the conference fee. Members can also access advertising opportunities and participate in a trade show-like exposition.

Special Access to Sales Channels and Publications

FTF works with a growing number trade shows, including Beckman's Handmade in Chicago and the California Gift Show, to create special sections for members. Some consumer-focused publications, such as the Green America Guide to Fair Trade, only list FTF members when discussing Fair Trade with their 50,000+ readers.

Marketing Opportunities

Members of FTF have access to a range of additional marketing opportunities, many of which are exclusive to members; others of which are discounted to members. The most basic and powerful of these is the free listing on the website.

Other opportunities include:

FTF Conference Marketing

The conference provides opportunities a menu of marketing opportunities for members, such as advertising in the conference booklet, banners, sponsoring specific sessions, presenting, and selling at the show and providing samples.

Email & Newsletter Marketing

FTF staff produce several electronic publications aimed at members, external buyers, and the public. Advertising spaces are available in each publication. Special rates are available for very small members.

Cooperative Marketing

FTF has begun and will continue to run collaborative advertisements for members in major publications and at trade shows. This program provides access to publications that would otherwise be cost prohibitive for many member organizations.

FTF's board and staff are working to expand these opportunities and to keep costs as low as possible for members.

Training

As a trade organization, we believe that your success is vital to our success. As such, we see it as critical that we make training available for organization to develop and grow. This area of work is ongoing and includes:

Conference Sessions

The annual conference sessions are often geared towards practical issues that affect the success of members' organizations. Previous topics include pricing, marketing, financing, branding, and product development.

Web Seminars

During 2009, FTF introduced a pilot program of web-seminars ("webinars") to tackle critical issues effecting the growth and development of members.²

Ad-hoc Training Events

Occasional training events will be made available to members on specific topics.³

² Registration rates will vary depending on the cost of producing each session.

³ These sessions may be operated by external trainers for FTF members and will involve additional costs

Promoting Members and the Fair Trade Brand

The Federation's Strategic Plan sets "Strengthen and Promote the FTF Brand" as its Objective 3.3 and identifies a number of activities to distinguish members and the work of FTF. While many of these elements will begin to be realized in Year Two of the Plan (2010) tasks that fall under this Objective for 2009 include producing a series of case studies that illustrate the difference between fully committed organizations and others. FTF also has plans to carry out an impact study of member's work and develop and market the FTF brand to the public. This study will take several years and is expected to conclude in year three of FTF's Strategic Plan.

Representation

FTF staff spend many hours per week coordinating with other organizations - both within the Fair Trade movement and outside - to represent members' interests and promote their work. The Executive Director attends numerous events and telephone conferences and serves on the boards of many groups to promote FTF, our members, and our values.

Screening & Rescreening

Perhaps the most valuable aspect of FTF membership is the credibility it provides to member organizations. This credibility comes from a rigorous screening and rescreening process. The process itself provides the opportunity to do internal self-examination and action planning. FTF strives to provide clear guidance on the Principles and Practices required for membership and to enable the processes of screening and rescreening to be supportive and useful for member organizations.

Support & Mentoring

Members are the basis of FTF; and, members have always shown genuine support for each other, demonstrated through concrete advice, information sharing, and help to ensure each other's success. During 2010, FTF will attempt to formalize this process with a pilot mentoring program among members.⁴ As the Federation also seeks to inspire others to commit to Fair Trade, selected advice on how to start a Fair Trade business is also available on the FTF website.

⁴ An additional fee may apply to cover program administration
